Project Title: Attack on Titan (TV Series) Website

I think this site should be multiple pages, each detailing an aspect within and outside the series. I want to give it a slideshow feel, really spotlighting the artistry within the series.

Home Page/Introduction – Introduce series and important information (genre, beginning/end date, season count, writers, where to watch). I think the navigation bar can either be on the bottom or top, depending on which looks best and how I transition between nav-bar links.

Seasons – I'm thinking of doing a page dedicated to detailing each season (there's only 4) with a summary and memorable clips/snapshots. I don't think there's enough content to make each it's own page, but rather all the content on one single page.

Cast and Characters – I think it would be cool to do a page that functions as a slide show of all the different main characters with interesting facts and pictures/iconic solo-scenes.

Music – A page dedicated to the songs of each season.

Awards – A page for all the awards won by the series.
